August 26, 2010

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Welcome to New Brunswick High School! As a parent /guardian of a New Brunswick High School student you are a stakeholder in both the success of your child and the continuing success of the school. I, as the interim principal, am committed to providing a rich learning experience in a safe environment.

September 6, 2010, at 7:56 A.M., begins the new school year. In a continuing effort by the New Brunswick Board of Education and administration to provide a safe and secure learning environment, two new procedures will be in place that day. First, the uniform policy, detailed in a previous letter, will be effect. Second, for the added security of all, there have been metal detectors placed at the entrances of the building. All persons (staff, students, parents, and visitors) who enter New Brunswick High School will be subject to a scan. This fills a need in our security and follows a trend that is evident in most public venues, public buildings and large high schools.

I look forward to the opening of school and greeting the students. Please look for opportunities o become involved with the school whether it is athletic events, back-to – school night on September 23, 2010, the college fair or other events throughout the year.

Very truly yours,

James D. Christman
Interim Principal
